BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY

The global financial crisis brewing for a while really started to show its effects in the middle of 2007 and into 2008 around the world stock markets have fallen, large financial institutions have collapsed or been brought out, and government in even the wealthiest to bail out their financial systems.

A collapse of the United States sub-prime mortgage market and the reversal of the housing boom in other industrialized economies have had a ripple effect around the world.

According to Aluko (2008), the lending difficulties of the investment banking industry in the United States spectacularly Lehman Brothers, Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley and JP Morgan Chase and government-backed mortgage giants Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac has caused a series of panics and financial instability globally even in the growing economy like Nigeria.

According to Shah (2009) starting in Wall Street, others followed quickly. With soaring profits, all wanted in even if it went beyond their area of expertise. Banks borrowed even more money to lend out so they would create more securitization some banks borrow from other banks and sell those loans on as securities, bad loans would be the problem of whosoever bought the securities.

Nigeria's economy cannot be alienated from what happens in the global economy since oil the major source of our revenue is affected globally with the sharp fall in oil price to less than $40 per barrel, Yusuf (2009). Flakpa, Adeboya, Lgbikiowuba, Komolafe (2008) the withdrawal of funds by foreign investors from the Nigerian economy has contributed to the downward trends of stock market value of the various sectors in the Nigerian economy. The Nigerian banking sector is not left out especially with some of the having foreign partners who contribute to the growth and development of the sector.

At the inception of the global financial methods, it was thought that Nigeria will not get caught in the economic backlash, but now it is no longer how should we get insulated but how do we reduce the adverse effect of the financial meltdown.
